

The Director of Central Intelligence

Washington, DC 20505

National Intelligence Council

NIC 04957-85
3 October 1985

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence
THROUGH: Chairman, National Intelligence Council
FROM: Julian C. Nall
National Intelligence Officer for Science and Technology
SUBJECT: Meeting of the SIG on the Transfer of Strategic Technology

1. On 30 September, [redacted] I attended the subject meeting which was called to discuss bilateral Soviet-US science and technology agreements. The following is the essence of the meeting:

- Bill Schneider read to the Committee a statement about the history of the bilaterals and their status today, indicating that seven were still in effect but that four (transportation, science and technology, space, and energy) had lapsed.
- It is not certain whether the S&T agreements will be addressed during the Reagan-Gorbachev meeting, [redacted]

[redacted]

- On a specific topic from the last SIG/TT meeting I asked Bill what had happened to the follow up on the meeting about domestic safeguards on access to US supercomputers by foreign nationals from proscribed countries. He responded that the matter had been looked into carefully and we would have a follow up meeting on the subject. It had been confirmed that the use of the visa mechanism for restriction was legal.

2. The meeting ended after about 25 minutes; and to be perfectly candid, little or nothing was accomplished.
